Bloomfield, Connecticut

Computer Policy

In fulfilling its mission to provide informational, educational, and cultural enrichment for the Bloomfield community, the Prosser Public Library offers free computer/Internet access to all Library patrons. The Internet is a global and unregulated information network. As such, it allows patrons to access information and images beyond the scope of the Library's selection criterion and collection development policies. The Library cannot control the information accessible through the Internet and is not responsible for its content.

The workstations are intended for the informational, recreational and educational use of Library patrons. The restriction of a child's access to the Internet is the responsibility of the parent or guardian. The Library accepts the American Library Association resolution on filtering, which supports constitutionally protected free speech and does not support the use of filtering software.

The computer workstations may not be used for illegal activities. Any activities intended to disrupt network services or equipment, change computer settings, or access restricted data are not allowed. The Library reserves the right to end any computer session at any time for any reason. The violation of these rules may result in either the temporary or permanent loss of computer privileges.

Per page printing fees are collected by the Library in order to cover the cost of printer supplies and maintenance. The Library assumes no responsibility for loss of data, or for damages sustained by any patron connecting their own flash drives or electronic devices to a Library computer, or for any liability that may occur from patron use of a computer.
